Top Students At High School

The top 10 percent of the senior class at Andover High has been listed this week by principal Lindsay J. March.

From among these individuals, the school will select graduation essayists. In line with a policy change, Mr. March explained, the valedictorian and salutatorian no longer are being selected because of the slight difference that usually exists between the grades of the individuals.

Thus the top 10 percent of the class, academically, are listed alphabetically:

Nancy Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, 13 Blood rd.

Peter Beaven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beaven, 6 Yale rd.

Promoting Interest In School Affairs

Without formal organization, a general movement to get parents to attend School Committee meetings is being undertaken.

Mrs. Richard Moody of Suncrest rd. told the Townsman that there is no organized group, nor any set of objectives, other than to have men and women acquaint themselves with the School Committee and its deliberations.

Commenting on reports that a political action group is being formed, she stated that the only purpose for urging people to attend the meetings is to have them become more interested and better informed.

Mrs. Moody said she believes many residents "are ill-informed" on the activities of the Committee and on educational matters in the town.

Thus, she stated, several residents have been urging others to attend the sessions.

"All I'm interested in are good schools and a good educational system for Andover", Mrs. Moody asserted. (Continued on Page 13)

Two local lawyers were in New York Wednesday, discussing with their client a statement by the New Hampshire attorney general concerning the Granite State Realty and Construction Co. Inc., which allegedly received a sub-contract from the Foundation Co. of New York in connection with the Boston Common garage construction.

Atty. Richard C. Simmers said the New York company had retained him, and Special Justice Richard K. Gordon. But as far as the New Hampshire corporation went, Simmers said he knows nothing about it and has not been an officer in the corporation.

Guest Night By Woman's Club

Husbands and other guests will be in evidence Monday evening at the Andover Country Club, when the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will hold its annual Guest Night.

Following the business meeting scheduled to start at 8 p.m., an outstanding program of original character sketches will be presented by Richard Corson, an extra-ordinary monologist.

Mr. Corson has presented his one-man theatre throughout Europe and North America and received wide acclaim on both continents. In addition to publishing numerous plays, stories, and articles, his book "Stage Makeup", is a standard reference work in libraries, schools, and theaters.

Mr. Corson's repertoire runs the gamut from comedy to satire, as he represents the variety of natures he so aptly portrays.

Hostess chairman for the evening will be Mrs. Robert Munson and Mrs. Donald Richardson.

Delay Seen In Road Building

Construction of Route 495, east from Greenwood rd. to Winthrop ave., Lawrence, may be delayed for months.

Announcement that Marinucci Brothers and Co. of Dorchester is the apparent low bidder on both sections of the highway project brought speculation that contracts will not be awarded for a long time.

The Suffolk County Grand Jury is currently investigating allegations that the firm was overpaid $300,000 or more for work on the Southeast Expressway. The state alleges that the payments were made for excavation of peat, that did not exist.

It was stated a week ago, when bids on the first local section of highway were opened, that a delay would result, pending outcome of the investigation. The Grand Jury has recessed for a week, after hearing three witnesses.

Additionally, the attorney general has announced that the firm has said it will pay back the (Continued on Page Two)

Garbage collection details are pretty much up in the air, with basic decisions on many details yet to be made.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff revealed this week that specifications have not yet been drawn for the collection - the necessary step before bids can be sought.

Mr. Duff said he, in conjunction with the Board of Health, will draw the specs and that he will receive the bids. Town meeting appropriated $25,000 for the municipal service for the current year.

Whether or not the town can enter into a three-year contract for the service is as yet undecided. Mr. Duff recalled that Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien warned town meeting that this might be contrary to law; he also agreed that the voters could authorize the Selectmen to enter into such an agreement if they found it to be (Continued on Page 16)

Plastics Firm Will Move To Ballardvale

Emmco Plastics Corp. has agreed to purchase one of the Ballardvale mills owned by C. Lincoln Giles, and will conduct a plastics manufacturing operation there.

Robert P. Hillery of Southboro is president of the firm.

The firm manufactures plastics and plastic components for such firms as Western Electric, General Electric and firms engaged in space age developments. Some 75 persons are currently employed by the firm, but it is expected that additional employees will be needed once the operation is consolidated in one plant.

The company will occupy about 4,000 feet of office space and 20,000 feet of manufacturing space - and will be in operation here in May.

Mr. Giles has taken out a $100,000 building permit to begin renovations. He estimates that about a quarter of a million dollars will be required to complete the interior and exterior work.

It is anticipated that some of the firm's personnel will be moving here, after the plant is open.

overpayment if it is proved that there is one.

With the investigation still underway, and the obvious possibility that litigation of some sort may take place, most observers feel that awarding of contracts will be held up for a long period of time.

The firm's low bid on the 1.58 miles of Route 495, from Greenwood rd. easterly, was $1,453,376.90.

Its bid on the 1.65 miles of highway, from west of Corbett rd. through Andover and into Lawrence, was $4,546,016.75.

Second-low bidder on the first project was Bayer and Mingolla Construction Co. of Worcester, $1,469,376.90.

The second-low bid on the larger section, which includes seven bridges, came from M. DeMatteo Construction Co. of Quincy, $4,585,492.

It had previously been acknowledged that the contracts for the two projects would be awarded shortly after the bids had been opened and checked. Construction would have begun this spring, had not the apparent low bidder been the subject of state investigation, officials claim.

Religious Play At Christ Church

A performance of Charles Williams play, "Grab and Grace", will be given by a repertory company of "Bards, East" at Christ Church, Wednesday, April 4, at 8 p.m. The performance is part of the parish series of Lenten programs on "The Church and the Contemporary Arts".

"Bards, East" is a religious dramatic group interested in reviving the drama as a vehicle for expressing the truths of the Gospels and the Old Testament. Truth may be apprehended by the imagination and the emotions as well as by the intellect. The group believes the drama is an effective way of confronting man, church or unchurched, with his relation to God and to his fellow man.

Charles Williams is known in England and America for his metaphysical thrillers. His work is eccentric to contemporary writing, but has been recognized as great enough to sustain and justify that lonely position. In "Grab and Grace," the conflict between good and evil becomes resolved into a state where the old terms are no longer true, and what was originally seen as evil is also part of perfection.

"Grab and Grace" will be directed by William Thrasher, associate director of "Bards, East". In the cast are Joyce Heisler, Edw. Sprague, Judith Kerr, Lawrence Joel, David Holmann and William Guild; stage manager, Inglis Tompkins; assistant stage manager, Polly Towers; Wardrobe Mistress, Karen Hofmann; costumes by Doris Rockwell, Scottie Benbow, Nancy Caskey and Polly Towers.

The final program in the Christ Church Lenten series April 11 will be given by Dr. Howard E. Hunter of the Boston University School of Theology: "Contemporary Theology and the Contemporary Arts".

The public is invited.

First, the New Hampshire attorney general, William Maynard, said:

"A corporation entitled the Granite State Realty and Construction Co. Inc. was organized in 1959 under the laws of New Hampshire. This corporation had a sub-contract with the Foundation Co. of New York for services in connection with construction of the Boston Common garage in the amount of $155,000.

"The Foundation Co. paid $65,000, presumably under this contract. The checks issued in payment of the $65,000 were endorsed for deposit to the corporation's account in the Merrimack Valley National Bank, Andover, Mass., and were apparently signed by Richard K. Gordon, treasurer, and one check was also apparently signed by R. C. Simmers, president.

"The corporation has filed an annual report in New Hampshire since January 1960."

After the local men had denied being officers of the New Hampshire firm, a published account stated that the records in the state house, Concord, N. H., show the officers to be Maurice A. Broderick, president, treasurer, clerk and director; James A. Manning, director and Elizabeth G. Mahoney, director, all of 22 Amherst st., Manchester, N. H. The date of incorporation was listed as May 21, 1959.

A third man, well-known locally and a former resident, Francis W. Kiernan, has been involved in another phase of the garage investigation. This relates to fees paid for engineering, and whether or not an alleged partner of Kiernan's ever received any of the fees or knew about them.

The former Authority chairman, George L. Brady, is reported to have told investigators, in connection with the New Hampshire firm, that it was formed to "sell" non-existent materials for the building of the garage. Atty. Simmers called Brady a "liar", and suggested that lie detector tests would find he and Atty. Gordon "100 percent clean".

HUDSON SANG IN CHORUS

David H. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Hudson of Andover, and a student of the New England Conservatory sang with the Conservatory Chorus in its spring concert March 21 at the Conservatory's Jordan Hall.

The major event of the program was composer Randall Thompson conducting his piece Frostiana. Mr. Thompson is a professor of music at Harvard University. The Chorus director, Lorna Cooke de Varon conducted the rest of the program.

Household Survey Starts In April

A number of local families will be interviewed in a new sample survey to be known as the Quarterly Household Survey, which the U. S. Census Bureau will inaugurate April 2.

The primary purpose of the Quarterly Household Survey is to meet increased government-wide needs for additional current population and housing statistics. The increased need for survey data resulted in a workload which could not be handled by the Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey, which collects information on employment and unemployment as well as related population and housing statistics.

Two to four subjects will be covered each quarter in the new Household Survey. The initial survey will collect information requested by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor, for a detailed study on the unemployed. Unemployed persons will be asked questions designed to obtain information on patterns of employment and unemployment in recent years, kinds of jobs held, whether the unemployed persons are willing to move to another area in order to get employment, and other work experience items.

A recurring function of the Quarterly Household Survey will be the collection of statistics on expenditures for residential alterations and repairs. Statistics from earlier surveys indicate that these expenditures total close to $15 billion a year.

The Quarterly Household Survey will be conducted during the first 10 days of each quarter in the 333 sampling areas used for the Census Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey. This procedure will enable the Bureau to utilize the services of skilled, experienced current population survey interviewers, simplify administrative problems, and reduce sampling costs.

Quarterly Household Survey interviews will be conducted locally, starting April 2, by Amy Coit, Rita Hohmann, Rose McKinnon, Pearl Naglin and Mary A. White.

Census Bureau activities in this area are supervised by James W. Turbitt, 330 Stuart st., Boston.

Pigeon Took Part In Maneuvers

Army Staff Sergeant Louis F. Pigeon Jr., whose parents live at 38 Main st., recently participated in a three-day field training exercise in West Berlin's famed Grunewald Forest.

The training exercise, which involved the entire 6th Infantry, was designed to enhance unit military capabilities at company, platoon and squad levels in attack and defense. The 6th Infantry is a major element of the U. S. Army's Berlin Command.

Sergeant Pigeon, a section leader in Company E of the 6th's 2d Battle Group, entered the Army in 1954 and arrived overseas in 1959 on this tour of duty.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

All, Or Nothing At All?

There has been considerable alarm in some sections of town, as residents become aware of the possibility that garbage may not be collected from every home.

This is not decided — it's just a possibility, to be acted upon when the bids are received and when the alternatives are known.

There is a substantial question, however, whether less than a full coverage of the town can be undertaken, without violating the spirit of the article passed at town meeting.

No doubt it's legal enough, but we're concerned here with what the voters thought they were accomplishing, when they approved the article. And in our understanding, they were approving town-wide collection, nothing less.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff makes the point that the density of population in some areas makes collection more necessary in those sections than it is in outlying, lightly-populated portions of the town. Moreover, he feels that tax support for the collection is much like tax support for sewers — paid by all taxpayers, although some do not get the benefit.

We haven't changed our minds about the collection — it still appears necessary. But it should be town-wide, covering every home where the service is wanted by the resident. Anything less seems to violate the spirit of town meeting action.

Out With The Rascals

The effects of current investigations into land taking costs, extra construction costs and the like are being felt in Andover now.

The low bidder on the Route 495 section eastward from Greenwood rd. has been named as one of the contractors to whom overpayments may have been made on other jobs — and thus the awarding of a contract is being held up.

This will delay the construction of this link in the federal highway.

Thus we can begin to see how investigations and delays — resulting from actions in other parts of the state — can effect us directly. Some residents of the town have also been able to see this connection, because the state took overly long in giving final approval to land taking payments, in the months just past. The Governor's Council in particular did not give its final approval to many payments — not because they were in error, but just because there was an investigation underway.

There must come a time — hopefully soon — when residents of our once-proud state will rise up and throw the rascals out, wherever they are, whatever party they belong to.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

The House of Representatives has been moving fast this year, more than a month ahead of schedule at the same time last year. And, last year's session wound up with a record-breaking number of bills signed into law.

Quantity, of course, is not the true test of good legislating. So far, the quality of the measures approved by the House has been relatively high: the postal rate bill, aid to higher education, amendments tightening the welfare and pension plans disclosure act, the manpower retraining bill, a $952 million Treasury-Post Office appropriation, and educational television measure, improvement of the public assistance and child welfare service program under Social Security, the Department of the Interior appropriation, and authorization of $13 billion for procurement of aircraft, missiles and naval vessels.

What the session has lacked in fireworks thus far — and only the Urban Affairs bill has struck a few sparks — it has made up for in good solid work. For those who enjoy political pyrotechnics, the next few months is full of promise: foreign aid, medical care, education, the U. N. bond issue — all are looked to for sharp division among House members, not necessarily along party lines.

Our Fifth District will feel a beneficial economic impact during the coming year if two important bills travel the full legislative route intact.

First is the Interior Appropriation bill, approved in a voice vote. It carries in it $1.5 million for acquisition of land for our Minute-man National Historical Park, plus $61,825 for management and protection; $32,335 for maintenance of physical facilities; $25,000 for construction of roads and trails; and $115,000 for buildings and utilities.

The Armed Services Committee has put its stamp of approval on $1.6 million in funds for supply facilities and troop housing at Fort Devens, and on $1.5 million for administrative and operational facilities at Hanscom Air Force Base. The Administration placed no money request for Watertown Arsenal. The committee is continuing hearings on the Military Construction bill, in which these funds are authorized.

National Library Week

Beginning Monday, April 9, the Memorial Hall Library will join other libraries and schools throughout the nation in observing National Library Week, a concerted effort to focus public attention on reading "as a source of personal fulfillment" and to point up the importance of reading in our national life.

For five years, this spring program has been gaining the appreciation of civic leaders in many communities, of teachers, publishers, business, religious and professional groups. This year's theme, "Read And Watch Your World Grow", is being developed at the Memorial Hall Library in a number of ways. Special programs are planned for attracting readers with a leaning towards travel and photography; a story hour will be built around the theme of an enlarging world, and the new spring books will be displayed for readers to look over at their leisure. It is a combination of the annual Spring Book Festival and National Library Week, with the interesting features of both occasions!

All friends of the library are urged to watch for full details and to allow themselves some time during the week to visit their library.

Great Decisions

This week's televised program on the "Great Decisions 1962" theme has as its subject "United States; New Directions In Foreign Policy?" All readings suggested for the eight programs have been set aside at the library. If you have followed the programs with interest, why not follow up the meetings with more and varied opinions that may challenge your own conclusions? Ask for the special shelf when you visit the library.

The Winners

Prizes and awards have been flying thick and fast in recent weeks: National Book Awards have been made; the Caldecott and Newbery Medals have been won in the field of children's literature; the Notable Books of 1961 have been named.

This is the 13th annual recognition made by the National Book Award committee to the most distinguished books in fiction, non-fiction and poetry to be published during the previous year. Winning books are chosen by boards of five judges in each category. This year's winner for the fiction honor was Walker Percy, for his book "The Moviegoer". Alan Dugan's "Poems" won the poetry award, and Lewis Mumford received the non-fiction award for "The City In History".

Children's literature awards are always a matter of great interest to librarians, booksellers, children and parents, alike. It is a thrilling experience to see a "favorite" selected as the outstanding picture book, and those who read and enjoyed "Once A Mouse" by Marcia Brown, will be happy to know that it won for its author, Marcia Brown, the Caldecott Medal, awarded each year for the "most distinguished American picture book". In 1955, this author won the same honor for her book "Cinderella". The Newbery Medal, a recognition of the "most distinguished contribution to American literature for children", was given to Mrs. Elizabeth Speare for her book "The Bronze Bow". In 1959, she won the award for her book "Witch of Blackbird Pond". It is very unusual for both winners to have been so honored in the past.

Other titles considered for the awards were "Frontier Living" by Edward Tunis, "The Golden Goblet" by Eloise McGraw and "Belling The Tiger" by Mary Stolz.

The Notable Books of 1961, as a unit, will be displayed at the library during National Library Week, April 9-14, and may be reserved at that time.

All books mentioned in this article are available at the library.

School Librarians Meet

The Memorial Hall Library will entertain a group of elementary school librarians Wednesday, April 4, from 4 to 7 o'clock. Guests will visit Andover's elementary school libraries, after which they will have a supper and discussion hour at the library. Miss Putnam will speak to the group on the relationship of the public and the elementary school libraries of Andover. Miss Margaret Lane, Children's librarian in charge of work with elementary school libraries, will be chairman for a discussion of ways of teaching reference work in the school library.

Great Books

The reading for discussion at the next meeting of the Great Books group, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock, is to be "The Art Of Love" by Ovid.

Movies For Young People

The April 5 story hour will be in the form of a movie hour, and will include the following films: Animal Town Of The Prairie, Happy Little Hamsters and T. Jean Goes Lumbering. The program will begin promptly at 3:35 o'clock, and all are urged to be there early enough to see the entire show. All boys and girls are invited.

Littlest Listeners

The Ballardvale group meets Thursday, March 29, at 10 o'clock in the branch library, and Andover members of the Cardinal group will meet the next Wednesday, April 4, in the main library.

For Camera Travelers

If photography is your strong point, or travel your greatest pleasure, you will find these two subjects delightfully combined in a meeting at the Memorial Hall Library Monday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock.

Gordon Bensley of Phillips Academy will discuss "Travel With Your Camera" and will show what he considers good and poor shots, and will give excellent advice to the vacationist who has often wondered why so many things could have gone wrong with what he expected to be his best pictures.

The public is most cordially invited, and, if there is time, may have an opportunity to ask questions on puzzling aspects of this exciting pastime.

Save the evening, Monday, April 9, for one of the most interesting programs planned for this year's National Library Week.

Print Selection

Another lot of prints have been hung on display at the Memorial Hall Library. All are invited to take part in the selection of the few that will be purchased and framed for the circulating collection. Those interested are invited to fill in a ballot at anytime during the next few days. The voting will end April 6.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — March, 1912

Superintendent of Streets Frank M. Smith has been besieged during the past few weeks with requests, coming from all parts of the town, to repair sections where the roads have become impassable. Considerable trouble has been experienced on the state road near Henry Gould's, where a large auto truck was stuck fast in the mud for several hours recently.

This evening, H. Winthrop Pierce will give what promises to be a very interesting lecture on his life in Mexico, at the South Church.

Dr. A. E. Hulme has purchased a Ford touring car.

A new room has been opened at the Samuel Jackson School in which Miss Simmons, the recently-appointed special teacher, is to have charge of pupils who, for one reason or another, are unable to keep up with their classes.

Work is to be commenced at once on the new Tyer Rubber Co. factory, to be constructed on the Niotus Club field.

Poor and Riley have purchased a superior account register.

Daniel Low of Brechin ter. is to fill the place of the late James Craik as village cobbler.

Hextor Pattulo has been elected chief of Clan Johnston, 185, O.S.C. The Selectmen will receive bids on re-shingling the Richardson School. One set of bids was rejected Monday and the bidders were asked to submit bids on additional specifications. The town fathers have agreed to let a Shawshoos group use the structure, for meetings and activities.

The Selectmen and Board of Public Works have agreed to jointly purchase gasoline — Selectman Shepard figures the town might save $500 annually this way.

10 Years Ago — March, 1952

Top honor students have been announced at Punched High School. They are Janet O. Thompson, valedictorian; Carolyn E. Erler, salutatorian; Cynthia Howard and Barbara Foley, honor essayists.

A full slate of 35 Republican Town Committee members will be placed on the primary ballot this year, according to GOP Committee Chairman Vincent Stuliga.

The basketball team will be feted at a banquet.

Garden Club To Hear About Herbs

The April meeting of the Andover Garden Club will be held Tuesday, April 3, at 2:30 p.m. at the South Church.

Mrs. Henry C. Van Zandt, president of the Club, will conduct the business meeting and introduce the afternoon speaker, Mrs. Alexander James, widow of the great American artist. Her subject will be "Herbs Back to the Beginning of Time".

Because of the growing interest in herbs as a part of the garden picture, their importance both for color and foliage, as well as their use in imaginative cooking, the Garden Club decided to get an outstanding speaker on this subject for their spring meeting.

Not since the days of Mrs. Webster, whom only the older members will remember, has the Garden Club had a speaker who has aroused the interest and emphasized the great importance of herbs as an integral part of garden planning.

Mrs. James is a member of the Dublin Garden Club and The Garden Club of America. She has made the growing of herbs a very important part of her own garden in Dublin.

Tea will be served following the meeting, by Mrs. Leslie N. Hutchinson, hospitality committee chairman, and her committee. Mrs. Walter L. Curtis and Mrs. Ernest D. Walen will pour. The tea table arrangement will be done by Mrs. Charles G. Poore.

This will be an open meeting and guests will be welcome at the customary fee.

HOMEMAKERS MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The Ballardvale Homemakers' Extension Club will meet Tuesday, April 3, at the home of Mrs. Frank Green on Andover st.

The Show and Tell Team, Mrs. James Eldred and Mrs. Robert Mears, will discuss "Home Furnishings and Fabrics".

MRS. JAMES H. EATON III

Mrs. Norman Stowell and Mrs. James H. Eaton III of the Andona society are completing final arrangements for the annual dessert-bridge and hat show, to be held at the Andover Country Club Thursday, April 5, at 1 p.m.

This affair is always a gala spring event and the chairmen of the various committees are diligently preparing for its success again this year. Besides the delectable desserts and high fashion millinery which will be modeled by Andona members, there will be home made pastry on sale and an opportunity to win a host of prizes. High bridge scorers will also be rewarded at each table. This year, special emphasis will be on a separate reserved section for all advance reservations made by contacting Mrs. Robert Hinman, 17 Shawshen rd. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

The following committees are in charge of the various activities: Refreshments, Mrs. Boyd Bellinger; main table waitresses, Mrs. Robert C. Gaynor; general waitresses, Mrs. Robert C. Ramsdell; invitations, Mrs. Peter B. Olney; decorations, Mrs. Alan J. Byer; door reservations, Mrs. Robert Hinman; prizes, Mrs. Glenn Grubbs; bakery, Mrs. Edward S. Miller; tables, Mrs. Edgar E. Joiner; posters, Mrs. John J. Spires; finances, Mrs. Robert E. Look.

Proceeds from this and all Andona projects are expended to aid the youth of Andover and foremost on the agenda, for the first time this year, is a substantial scholarship to be awarded to a worthy college-bound graduate of Andover High School.

While not ruling out the possibility that some of the interested residents may eventually report on the meetings to others who express an interest, Mrs. Moody said this is not planned.

Instead, she explained, there is an effort being made to get people to attend the sessions, and to urge different persons to attend each time the School Committee meets. Several residents were in attendance at the last meeting, stating that they were present to observe the session.

MAY NOT COLLECT GARBAGE EVERYWHERE

legal and reasonable. The voters did so. There has been some speculation that private contractors could not bid competitively on a one-year contract because of their investment in heavy equipment to pick up the garbage.

The extent to which the town will be covered is also a matter of speculation.

Mr. Duff said this week that it would be desirable to pick up garbage all over the town on at least a once-weekly schedule.

But, he cautioned, if circumstances warrant it, some areas may be omitted.

These, he described as being outlying, with other means of disposing of garbage - such as keeping pigs.

He pointed out that concentrated habitation demands garbage collection as a health matter, while rural areas do not create such a demand.

However, Mr. Duff explained that the specifications probably will be written in such a way that he can award a contract for all or part of the town, depending on circumstances at the time.

Mr. Duff could not say whether the collection would be started on a partial basis - covering some sections of the town but not others - if the bids come in higher than the appropriation.

This is not a likelihood, based on estimates of the Study Committee which recommended garbage collection. That group set $25,000 as a maximum figure, stating that it probably can be done for less. In response to one question by the Finance Committee, a Committee member suggested that the $25,000 figure be used only as an outside estimate. When, and if, the collection is begun, it will be under the general supervision of the public works department.

Mr. Duff told the Townsman that this will mean nominal supervision only, as the private contractor will handle most of the work.
